Pelahatchie's Muscadine Jubilee is back!

Special to Pelahatchie News

The Muscadine Jubilee was temporarily put on hold since 2020 because of COVID-19. The town is happy to report that the event will return Sept. 17, 2022.

Mayor Karl VanHorn and the Town of Pelahatchie have been recruiting local entertainment, vendors, and activities for the family. Vendor booths will be available at a discounted rate this year.

Mayor VanHorn said that this year will be a year to "get it back where it was years ago."

Due to COVID-19 and out of an abundance of safety and precaution recommended by the Center for Disease and Prevention, the Town decided to cancel the event in 2020 and 2021. Due to those cancellations, the Muscadine Jubilee lost some ground. However, the Town gets many calls and posts on social media asking about when the event will return - showing there is much interest in the event.

More details about the Muscadine Jubilee are to come in the September Pelahatchie News and online.

For information about booth space, call 769-229-4435. The event will take place at its usual location, Muscadine Park on 2nd St. (Hwy. 80) and Go Forth St. in Pelahatchie.

Hebert selected to teach at SR1 STEM Camp

Special to Pelahatchie News

After a rigorous interview process, Leslie Hebert, Instructional Coach and English teacher at Pelahatchie High School, was accepted to teach at the SR1 College Preparatory STEM Academy Summer Camp at Millsaps College. Hebert, along with a pre-med student, led a group of 15 students.

Students and teachers from all over the Jackson-Metro area participated in various thematic weeks at the SR1 Camp that provided unique opportunities for students to become immersed in activities that may not be available during the school year.

Students dissected sheep brains, solved true crime cases using forensics, experienced hands-on activities while touring Mississippi State University, participated in a Japanese Tea Ceremony, and much more. Organizers say opportunities like this help bridge the gap of opportunity that so many of the State of Mississippi's children lost during the COVID-19 pandemic.

The teaching at the SR1 Camp was centered around five themed weeks as follows:

- Week One (June 7-9) was dedicated to health. It allowed campers to study and even dissect the various parts of the brain as they learned about psychology. This week was designed to increase the student's awareness of physical health and to teach various lifestyle habits that can help the students maintain good health.

- Week Two (June 14-16) was all about science. Students used forensics to solve a true crime. Science Week also taught various science-related topics not taught in some schools; as well as prepares the students for college courses.

- Week Three (June 21-23) focused on cultural arts. Maika Yamaoka, Japan

Due to heat wave, MHSAA/SMAC changes time of varsity football games

Special to Pelahatchie News

Mississippi has been experiencing record breaking temperatures, 95 degrees and higher, before summer even began on June 21.

The extreme heat has led athlete associations and coaches in Mississippi to push back the time in which public school football games start this season.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and other government health organizations recommend acting fast when heat exhaustion and stroke symptoms occur.

Heat exhaustion causes symptoms such as dizziness, thirst, heavy sweating, nausea and weakness. A heat stroke can cause confusion, dizziness and unconsciousness. If a heat stroke occurs, it is recommended to call 911.

The Mississippi High School Activities Association (MHSAA) Executive Committee met in July to address recommendations from the Sports Medicine Advisory Committee (SMAC) and coaches.

High school varsity football games through the month of September will begin at 7:30 p.m. This will put them to warmup later in the day when the heat index begins to drop.

Middle school, ninth grade and, J.V games can still be played earlier, but it is suggested that schools can change these times to begin later in the afternoon as needed.

With the rising summer temperatures come rising energy bills.

The Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) provides financial assistance to eligible households for managing costs associated with:

- Home energy bills
- Energy crisis
- Purchase, repair, or replacement of air conditioners and heaters

To be eligible for LIHEAP, an applicant's household income must be at or below 60% of the state median income (approximately $27,906) to qualify for these programs.

"Rising temperatures and fuel costs are having an impact on Mississippians," said Robert G. (Bob) Anderson, Executive Director of the Mississippi Department of Human Services. "For many, LIHEAP and the Power to Care programs serve as a lifeline. Connecting these important resources to our neighbors is critical to our mission of offering Mississippians young and old tangible help today to create a lasting hope for tomorrow."

For residents who do not meet the eligibility criteria for LIHEAP, the Mississippi Department of Human Services works with utilities to provide energy assistance to low-income households across the state.

Entergy Mississippi's The Power to Care Program, administered by the Salvation Army, provides bill payment assistance to low-income elderly and disabled customers. Employees and customers contribute to this fund. Their donations are matched dollar-for-dollar by Entergy shareholders up to $500k.

"By giving to The Power to Care, donors are providing relief for people in our communities who need it most," said Valarie Mabry, Entergy Mississippi public affairs representative. "Helping build stronger, healthier, and more resilient communities is an important part of Entergy's mission and our goal to become the premier utility."

Entergy also offers level billing for customers of any income level. Level billing gives the option to spread out the annual cost of a utility bill over 12 months so that no one will be surprised with higher bills in the summer due to the heat. This service is excellent for budgeting.

Energy-efficiency tips are also offered to Entergy customers. These tips will help customers manage their energy use, and most tips are low to no cost. Examples of these tips range from letting customers know the ideal temperature to set their a/c on to save money and be comfortable.

MDHS is working with Entergy and other energy providers to ensure that the people of Mississippi have access to affordable utilities and assistance with budgeting.

For more information or to register for utility assistance through MDHS, visit <https://www.mdhs.ms.gov/energy-assistance-programs-benefit-mississippi-families/> or call 601-359-4500.

Outreach Initiative Coordinator with the University of Memphis, demonstrated a formal Japanese Tea Ceremony and allowed participants to practice making the tea. Cultural Week aimed to increase the students' tolerance and understanding of different cultures, thereby preparing students for the diversity that is encountered once attending college and entering the work force.

- Week Four (June 28-30), it was time for math. Students learned techniques to master the math portion of the ACT. During Math Week, students also applied math topics to real-world scenarios, thereby strengthening the students' math backgrounds and abilities in an interactive manner.

- Week Five (July 12-14) was College Week. Students learned how to choose the college or university that meets future career goals as well as current social, athletic and educational needs. The goal was to prepare students for college by illustrating the college process and strengthening both academic and social perceptions of college.

Combining the themes of science and the cultural arts, students joined campers from other areas of the state to tour Mississippi State University (MSU). The College of Forest Resources at MSU provided hand-on activities for students to learn about sustainable natural resources, wildlife management and forest conservation. MSU's College of Food Science allowed students to make and taste ice cream from various milk sources.

Hebert spoke fondly of the camp saying, "A lot of people question the adults of tomorrow - the children of today.

These kids have a desire to learn, and the general public doesn't see that. My faith in our children was solidified at the camp. If these are the leaders of tomorrow, then we are in a good place."

The non-profit group, SR1 Scientific Research, focuses on Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM). To learn more about SR1, visit SR1 online at www.sr1tech.org, or email SR1 at info@sr1tech.org.

Area students along with others from the community will be traveling to the capitals of the British Isles in June 2023. The EF (education first) Tour will include stops in Dublin, Belfast, Edinburgh, London, and Paris on the 12-day trip from May 31-June 11, 2023.

According to Eles Renfroe, a local travel enthusiast, "EF Tours' educational tours like this one will help students and adults gain a deeper understanding of the British Isles' geographical, political, and social history by exploring five of the capital cities.

There will be stops at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Edinburgh Castle, Buckingham Palace, and the Giant's Causeway natural wonder."

Renfroe said that EF Tours has a comprehensive schedule, including attractions, museums, and restaurants. There will be local tour guides and a bus driver accompanying the group for the 12-day tour. Renfroe and her family went on a similar trip to Europe in June.

When silverfish inhabit our homes

By Doug Carter, Rankin County Extension Agent

The silverfish is an elongate silver colored insect. We sometimes find these little gray bugs in our bathtubs. They fall in and can't climb out. We wonder what they are and are they harming anything in our house.

Silverfish live outdoors, but they are also inhabitants of most Mississippi homes, where they damage book bindings, stored papers, wallpaper, photographs, cotton fabrics and similar products. Because they are chewing insects, long periods of time in moist, humid areas such as basements or attics. Silverfish also occasionally feed on cotton, liner or silk clothing. Silverfish do not live by carbohydrates alone, they also feed on dead insects and other sources of protein.

In homes with significant infestations, it is common to find these insects trapped in a sink or bathtub. Silverfish thrive in indoor areas with high humidity. They have an elongate body that tapers from head to tail, with two long antennae protruding from the head and three long filaments protruding from the rear. Silverfish are said to have "no metamorphosis" because the immatures are so similar to adults.

Special to Pelahatchie News

they can eat through your belongings. It seems that items that have been in storage and left undisturbed for a long time are the most likely to be damaged.

Silverfish do not bite, sting, or carry diseases or pathogens. Even though they are not a threat to your health, silverfish are not pests you want to live with. Silverfish can damage household goods and building material, and their creepy presence will quickly make your home an unpleasant place to be.

For most homeowners, the nuisance effect of seeing these gray, carrot-shaped, half-inch long insects scurrying around the bathroom or other rooms in the house is more important than the relatively minor damage they do. However, damage to books and other paper products can be significant when items are stored for

To control silverfish, practice good moisture management and sanitation. Repair water leaks, use ventilation to lower humidity, avoid clutter, vacuum regularly and thoroughly, and be sure to store important documents in bug-proof containers. Apply ready to use spray or aerosol insecticides containing active ingredients like deltamethrin, cyfluthrin, cypermethrin or bifenthrin, to cracks, crevices and voids. This also includes spraying under and behind furniture and appliances, and along baseboards. Dusts containing deltamethrin can also be applied to cracks, crevices and voids. Be sure to follow labels.

He graduated from Leland High School in 1972 then went on to attend MS Delta Community College, and Mississippi State University, where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in accounting. Bassi is a member of the Mississippi Society of CPAs and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Bassi graduated from the Louisiana State University Graduate School of Banking of the South in 1989.

Bassi previously served as the Executive Vice President of Operations for PriorityOne Bank, formerly Bank of Simpson County, from 1983-1990. Applying for free or reduced meals

Special to Pelahatchie News

The nationwide waiver allowing all students to eat free school meals has expired. The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) made it possible for school nutrition programs to serve all students free breakfast and lunch through "waivers."

Although Congress did not extend these waivers for the upcoming school year, public schools can apply for free or reduced lunch or breakfast. For 2022-2023, across the country students must qualify for free or reduced lunch based on household income eligibility. Only one application per household is needed.

Special to Pelahatchie News

If a letter was received from the school referring to automatic approval (directly certified) of free meals for the 2022-2023 school year because someone in the household participates in a federal or state assistance program such as Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) or Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations (FDPIR), submission of an application is not necessary.

RCSD suggests the following to make the application process fast and easy:

- For participation in a federal or state assistance program such as SNAP, TANF or FDPIR, a case number is required (not the card or account number).

- If a family does not participate in any of the above assistance programs, the family will need to report the total household income as following:
 - If a family member in the household has a job, then reference the earnings statement or pay stubs to report the gross income, which is different than the amount actually received in a paycheck.
 - If a family member receives Social Security or retirement benefits, then gather the benefit statements to report the amount and frequency of the payments.
 - It may also be necessary to reference other financial documents for additional sources of income.

There is a Help link available if a family is unsure of everything they will need to apply. While applying for the program, the Help link is located on the Income section which contains detailed instructions and explanations about the sources of income a household must include. Additional information may be gathered at this time.

To apply online, visit RCSD's School Lunch App at <https://zcu.io/WWwd>. If access to a personal computer is not available, a computer will be provided by Pelahatchie Elementary, 7:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., and at Pelahatchie High School, 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Be sure to bring the information as outlined if applying on location.

Pastor's Perspective: When mistakes are made

By Guest Columnist John Vaughn, Pastor, Cross Roads Baptist Church

Special to Pelahatchie News

Last month, I wrote about the inspiring story of the Ole Miss Rebel baseball team. They had a “roller coaster” season, to say the least. Early in the season, they were ranked the number one college baseball team in the country. Then they lost some games and fell out of the rankings all together. But they kept playing hard, and although there were many doubters, at the end of the season they were invited to play in the NCAA College Baseball Tournament.

They won their Regional Tournament and Super Regional without a loss and went to the College World Series. There, they overcame some setbacks and eventually won the College Baseball World Series! All of that information was in the article for July.

When I received the Pelahatchie News in the mail and checked the article, I immediately was disappointed. You see, after telling the Ole Miss story, I applied their experience to our lives, and used scripture to teach what I thought was a valuable Spiritual lesson. In life, you will have “mountain top” experiences and also have seasons “in the valley.” But if you will be faithful and keep doing your best, in the end, you will win the victory in the Lord.

But the article stopped after the Ole Miss story. The Spiritual application had been taken out! I jumped to the conclusion that the editor had purposefully cut off the most important part of the article. And of course, I was very disappointed that they would do that. So, I called the Pelahatchie News office and asked the editor why the most important part of the article had been left out.

The response was, “We didn’t do any editing on the article. We printed it just as you sent it.” I was confused by that, because the whole article had not been printed! While we were talking, the editor checked again and discovered that there was a third page to the devotion that had been overlooked, and had not included with the article. The editor was very apologetic, and offered to run the same devotion this month.

And then she shared why she had overlooked part of the devotion. The font size was so large that the devotion extended to three pages, and she had simply overlooked the fact that there was a third page. Let me explain how that happened.

Special to Pelahatchie News

When I am writing, I always use a large font to make it easier for me to see the words on the computer screen. Usually, after the article is completed, I reduce the font size before sending it in. After it is reduced to a normal font, the article often fits on one page, or sometimes has a paragraph on page two. But it has never been three pages before!

So, while the editor was apologetic and accepted responsibility for the error, it was obvious to me that I shared some of the responsibility, as well. If I had reduced the font size, as I should have done, she would have seen the full article and printed it as submitted.

There is an important spiritual lesson in this story, as well. The Bible teaches that we are all sinners. In fact, I John 1:8 makes that clear: “If we claim to be without sin, we deceive ourselves and the truth is not in us.”

Just like we are all sinners, we also all make mistakes. I’m not saying that mistakes and sin are the same thing, although some mistakes could in fact be sinful. What I am saying is that no person can say they don’t make mistakes. We all do. The question then becomes, “What should you do when you make a mistake?” When you sin, you should confess it; and when you make a mistake, you should acknowledge it.

The problem is that many people are too prideful or too stubborn to admit when they make a mistake. Or they demand that the other person apologize for their mistakes while denying any responsibility. When we fail to acknowledge our mistakes and refuse to correct the situation, the results can be hard feelings, stressful situations or broken relationships. And it can happen in families, between friends, and among neighbors or co-workers.

So, there are two important lessons this month. Like the Ole Miss Baseball Team, keep trying to do your best, and in the end, you’ll be a winner. And when you make a mistake, own up to it, correct it and get on with your life! If you do both of these things, you’ll have a more satisfying and happy life!

Be sure to take your family to church on Sunday!

Town of Pelahatchie water fluoridation update

By Katie White

During the July 5, 2022, meeting of the Mayor and Board of Alderman of the Town of Pelahatchie, the board voted whether or not to discontinue fluoridation in the Town's water supply due to cost and its necessity. This is the first step in the process.

The vote was tied with two yays by Alderman Eddie Jones and Alderwoman Margie Warren. Alderwoman Sandra Harvey and Alderwoman Diane Hill voted nay. Mayor Karl VanHorn broke the tie with a yay.

In April 2022, the Town of Pelahatchie proposed to stop adding fluoride to its drinking water.

The governing board proposed to discontinue community water fluoridation, stating the following reasons:

- Fluoride is already found in toothpaste, and most developed countries do not fluoridate their water.
- The chemical fluoride affects many tissues in the body besides the teeth, (i.e., thyroid, and endocrine disruption), and it is not a natural process.
- The use of fluoride causes severe health risks to Town employees.
- Fluoridation is an increased expense to the citizens of the Town.

- Several water systems in the State are non-fluoridated.

Before the board voted, Melissa Larmer with the Bureau of Public Water Supply spoke about the importance of fluoridation as founded by several organizations.

Larmer reported that fluoridated water has been around for thousands of years. In countries where water fluoridation is already prevalent, for example, China and India, these countries opt to not add fluoridation. To do so would be harmful, as the levels of fluoridation would be too high.

Fluoride is not just added to the water in the U.S. – it is also regulated. Water fluoridation is recommended by the American Academy of Family Physicians, American Academy of Pediatrics, The American Association for Dental Research, The American Dental Association, The Center for Disease and Prevention (CDC), World Health Organization, Mississippi Department of Health (MSDH) and the National Academy of Medicine – just to name a few.

According to the CDC (www.cdc.gov/), fluoride additives consist of three ingredients: 1) A dry salt additive, sodium fluoride; 2) A dry salt additive, sodium um fluorosilicate; and 3) A water-based solution, hydrofluorosilicate. These additives must comply with all national safety standards. The additives are regulated with a system of standards,

Special to Pelahatchie News

testing and certificates by the American Water Works Association (AWWA), the National Sanitation Foundation (NSF) and The American National Standards Institute (ANSI). These organizations are nonprofit, nongovernment organizations. They regulate all fluoride that comes into this country. The fluoride must have the NSF seal.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has authority over safe community drinking water under the Safe Drinking Water Act. The EPA regulates the level of fluoride in drinking water. Fluoridated community water systems adjust fluoride to approximately .7 mg per liter. Because in some rare locations where fluoride is naturally present in water at much higher levels, the EPA established a Maximum Contaminant Level for fluoride of 4.0 mg per liter.

Larmer expressed her concern for Mississippians who are at the poverty level who do not have access to basic necessities such as toothpaste and toothbrushes. Many citizens also do not have the means to visit a dentist. Larmer continued to report that where fluoride has been added in such cases, it has been credited with a national reduction in dental disease throughout a person's life span.

Having pulled water supply records for Pelahatchie, Larmer said, "our system does not have natural fluoridation. This area does a good job sampling and keeping the levels where they need to be."

For questions, contact Larmer or the MSDH Local Water System Office at 601-854-5224. For other concerns, visit Pelahatchie City Hall, located at 705 2nd St. Comment forms are available at the first window inside the building.

Mississippi SNAP households are eligible for the Affordable Connectivity Program

Special to Pelahatchie News

Mississippi students and families can now benefit from a new program that will help bridge the digital divide. As Mississippi students prepare to return to the classroom in August, digital connectivity will play a key role in preparing students for the workplace of tomorrow.

The Mississippi Department of Human Services (MDHS) in partnership with the Broadband Expansion and Accessibility of Mississippi (BEAM) are working to spread awareness about the Affordable Connectivity Program, a Federal Communications Commission (FCC) Program.

“BEAM encourages all who are eligible to take advantage of ACP. Connectivity is such a vital part of education, healthcare, and the workforce today. We want all Mississippians to be connected and a part of today’s digital world of opportunities,” stated Sally Doty, BEAM Director.

This program is for eligible households struggling to afford internet service; the long-term benefits will help lower broadband service costs for households.

Those eligible for the Affordable Connectivity Program can receive up to $30 off their broadband service per month and up to $75 off their service if they live on tribal lands.

Benefits also include a $100 discount per household on a one-time purchase of a computer, laptop, or tablet if the household contributes between $10 - $50 to the purchase through a participating broadband provider.

A household is eligible if one member of the household meets at least one of these criteria:

- Has an income that is at or below 200% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines;
- Participates in certain assistance programs, such as SNAP, Medicaid, Federal Public Housing Assistance, SSI, WIC, or Lifeline;
- Participates in one of several Tribal specific programs, such as Bureau of Indian Affairs General Assistance, Tribal Head Start (only households meeting the relevant income qualifying standard), Tribal TANF, or Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations;
- Is approved to receive benefits under the free and reduced-price school lunch program or the school breakfast program, including through the USDA Community Eligibility Provision;
- Received a Federal Pell Grant during the current award year; or
- Meets the eligibility criteria for a participating broadband provider’s existing low-income program.

“Connecting Mississippians to tangible help today to create lasting hope for tomorrow is the mission of the Mississippi Department of Human Services. Internet connectivity in the home is an essential resource in preparing students for the workforce of tomorrow,” said Robert G. (Bob) Anderson, Executive Director of the Mississippi Department of Human Services.

Eligible households can enroll through a participating broadband provider or by 1) going to AffordableConnectivity.gov to submit an online application or print a mail-in application and 2) contacting their preferred participating broadband provider and selecting a plan. For more information about the Affordable Connectivity Program, please visit www.fcc.gov/ACP or call 877-384-2575 between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. ET any day of the week.

Additions and upgrades at Pelahatchie Public Library

Special to Pelahatchie News

The Pelahatchie Library has recently had a new addition and upgrade, enhancing the Town's library experience.

On April 7, the Pelahatchie Public Library hosted a ribbon-cutting ceremony for the new Little Free Library, located in Muscadine Park. Mara Polk, Central Mississippi Regional Library System Director, and Tina Mauney, Pelahatchie Branch Manager, were joined by members of the Pelahatchie Community and library patrons for the event.

A reception was held afterward for all who attended. The Little Free Library was purchased with grant funds from the Mississippi Library Commission through the Institute of Museum and Library Services.

The upgrade was installation of new flooring which was completed on July 26. Once it was completed, library staff began filling it with the shelves, books and all the items usually found in the library. The library thanks Rankin County and the Town of Pelahatchie for the renovation.
